LIST

HISTORY

The Detroit Fire Department
1929 – 2013

Built in 1929, this five-story building served as the headquarters of the Detroit Fire Department for more than 80 years. Once one of the city's most significant public safety buildings, it housed administrative offices, fire trucks, and sleeping quarters for our city's finest public servants. It bore witness to key moments in Detroit's history, from its rise as the Motor City to the Great Depression and the urban transformations that followed. A symbol of stability and service, it stood as a point of pride for Detroiters for a generation.

The Detroit Foundation Hotel, officially opened in May 2017, marking a new chapter in the building's storied past. The design of The Apparatus Room preserves the original craftsmanship and historical details from when the building was in operation, while introducing contemporary elements that bring new life to every corner, and joy to every moment.
